

Riginos Michalis

He is professor in the Department of Economics at the University of Athens. In 1977 he graduated from the Department of Economics at the Athens University of Economics and Business (AUEB) and he continued his studies in Economic and Social History in the Paris I Pantheon- Sorbonne University, where he obtained his Ph.D. entitled "Salaires et pouvoir d'achat en Grèce, 1909 - 1936". From 1987 to 1991 he worked as a researcher in the Historical Archive of the National Bank of Greece. Since 1991, he has been teaching Economic and Social History in the Department of Economics at the University of Athens. His current research work refers to the history of the Athens Stock Exchange, 1876- 1967.

Books:

Productive structures and labor wages in Greece, 1909-1936. (Athens 1987).

Forms of Child Labour 1870-1940 (Athens 1995)

The movement of currency in the Greek markets 1856-1912 (Athens 1997)

Recent Publications:

Book

Athens Stock Exchange. Development and Conjuncture. Listed Companies 1880-1940, Athens, Papazissis, 2018. (in greek)

Academic Papers

Thomadakis, S., Gounopoulos, D., Nounis, Ch. and Riginos, M. «Innovation and upheaval: early growth in Greek capital market listings and IPOs from 1880 to the Second War World in the Athens Stock Exchange», The Economic History Review, 70 (3) (2017).: 859-892.

Stavros Thomadakis, Dimitrios Gounopoylos, Christos Nounis, Michalis Riginos, «The Athens Stock Exchange, Financial Innovation and Growth, from 1880 to World War II», LSE, Hellenic Observatory Papers on Greece and Southeast Europe, GreeSE Paper No.86, 2014.